Special Candles, Great Aromas, An Accordion By Patsy Dew

The shortening grey days of November in Minnesota include my favorite holiday, Thanksgiving. I wondered if others share my fondness for the simple sumptuousness of this day, so I asked several people around the Center two questions: what were their plans for this Thanksgiving, and what traditions did their celebration include.

Kay Sexton, our regular afternoon receptionist, plans to celebrate two Thanksgivings, one on the official day at Laura Baker, and another during the preceding week at her sister Peggy's. Kay said that many years ago her mother established a smart tradition for their family: the extended-family Thanksgiving would take place one week ahead of the official date. For Kay this holiday has been a favorite, with the expectation of good food, laughter, and some card games after dinner. She misses the aroma of the day, as the turkey slowly cooked in her mother's house. It is still the day when her family gathers Christmas wish lists, and exchanges names for Christmas gift-giving. She recalls one family gathering, when her nephews were teens that she saw clearly how much teenage boys could consume. Sitting around the table after the meal, before the plates were even cleared, one boy asked, "What do we have for snacks?"

Orrin DeLong, and his children and grandchildren, will spend Thanksgiving at his daughter Vicki's place in Wisconsin. If his son Skip can make it, there will be 18 of them there for the meal on Thursday, and Orrin will take them all out to dinner the following night. Everyone brings something special to share; one 30-year old granddaughter makes a delicious scalloped corn. Son Skip will bring squash out of his garden. The day is one of conversation, getting caught up with each other, and debating plans for their Christmas present exchange. Fortunately, says Orrin, "everyone does like to talk." Apart from eating and talking, Orrin (cont on pg 2)

Health and Wellness Fair, November 11

The Center will be the location of an informative fair about Health and Wellness, from 9 to 11:30 am on November 11. There will be two featured speakers: Mary

Carlson will talk on "Strength and Flexibility," and Mary Upham will speak on the topic, "Not All Food is Created Equal." In addition to the speakers there will be information booths about legacy, health care directives, massage therapy, music therapy, and other health-related resources. Page 2 Center News November, 2011 didn't think they really had He said his wife Jean had always wanted to create some "traditions," but they never worked out. Her plan for a round of charades worked for a short while when the children were young and all believed on Christmas Eve never caught on. Orrin remembers with fondness the pilgrim candles that Jean piece, never burning them, any Thanksgiving traditions. they were great actors. Her attempt to serve oyster stew would use as for the centerbut saving them for subsequent Thanksgivings.

Barb Henwood's Thanksgiving celebrations have changed over time. For many years, as she was raising her boys they would drive to her parents' house in Ely, her hometown. Thanksgiving was the "last safe driving holiday," and the serving of the meal would be adjusted to the weather. Barb and her three brothers all live in this area now, so for another period of time, her mom and dad would prepare the turkey and all the extra dishes in Ely, then load the feast into their car and bring it south for the family. Barb laughs recalling that her parents didn't think any of their children could cook that meal. Barb's 82-year-old mother is now living alone, but maintains a busy social calendar. Her children will have to make sure she's available, and then one of them will drive up to Ely and bring her back for the holiday.

Now that she no longer feels compelled to make the meal, she will be able to just sit and play with her great grandchildren.

One of Barb's favorite Thanksgiving memories is a tradition of the town of Ely. On Thanksgiving Day, all of the stores are open with specialty items. There are singing groups, an accordion player, door prizes. All the locals come downtown to shop and have fun visiting with their neighbors.

Where-ever you are this Thanksgiving, I hope you are with people you enjoy, sharing good food and entertaining conversation. I plan to see if I can find the pilgrim candles that my mother-inlaw used to use, though they'll have to share the table with the two-foot tall Native American figure that my firstborn made in the sixth grade.

Pumpkin Growing Contest 2011 Winners

For several years now, John Jarvis has organized a pumpkin growing contest. Most of the contestants participate in the fitness programs at the Center. 2011 winners are:

1st place - Kitty Runzheimer and her son, for a pumpkin weighing 67 pounds

3rd place - tie, Butch Ims and Joel Pumper with pumpkins both weighing 47 pounds

Change of Date: Open Enrollment for Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Plans

October 15 - December 7

This year, open enrollment for Part D Medicare is starting earlier – on October 15th and ending sooner – December 7th. If you wish to change plans, you need to do it between these dates.

You probably have received your 2011 Plan Information from your Part D Drug Company. Be sure to read the information. Plans change their premiums, copayments, deductibles and drug formularies every year. It is in the best interest of every Medicare beneficiary to review their plan and to compare it to others that are offered. You may save money by switching plans.

Appointments will be available again this year at the Senior Center with Medicare volunteers who will help you compare plans. If you would like to have your plan evaluated, please pick up a form at the Senior Center, fill it out with you prescription information and return it to the Center in a sealed envelope. A Medicare volunteer will process your information and call you with the results. If an appointment is necessary they will set-up an appointment with you.

Cardio Vascular Training: What? Why? How? And When? By Gale Marchand, NSC Fitness Manager

What? We may have all heard about training our 'cardio vascular system' (CVS), but may not know what that really is or how we should go about it. Our CVS includes our heart, lungs, circulation and aerobic ability. For instance, if we get out of breath getting out of our recliner or walking to get the mail, we may need some serious 'brushing up' in this area. The American College of Sports Medicine recommends adults under and over 65 do "moderately intense aerobic exercise 30 minutes a day, five days a week OR do vigorously intense aerobic exercise 20 minutes a day, 3 days a week" to keep one's cardio-vascular system healthy. This can be a challenge. Perhaps a better thought pattern is to considering exercising an opportunity to better our CVS health.

Why? Risks associated with not exercising the CVS can include coronary heart disease, strokes, high blood pressure, breathlessness, flabby body, little energy, stiff joints, poor posture, being overweight, type 2 diabetes, and an even higher risk of developing cancers. These factors also affect our family because we may lack energy for our children, spouse, grandchildren, or elderly parents; have low libido levels; or incur financial hardship from treating health complications. Simple CVS training keeps our body functional in daily activities and prepared for any activity we want to enjoy to the fullest like a lot of walking on vacation, golfing, participating in table tennis, playing with grand kids, or making it joyously through the work day. CVS exercise keeps our heart, lungs and circulation healthy and contributes to our overall health and wellbeing for all of life's goals.

How? We can improve our CVS by simply doing cardio vascular exercise which, by the way, can be really fun! In fact, at NSC, we offer a wide variety of fitness classes designed to give you just this.

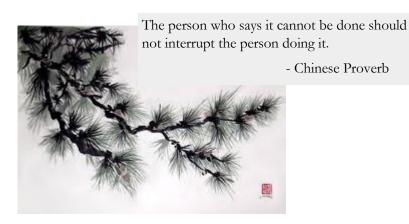

When? There is no time like NOW. Twenty-six of our on-going fitness classes and 14 group activity hours provide excellent aerobic conditioning and are especially designed for those over 50. They include: Aqua Aerobics, Zumba, Circuit Training, Water Volleyball, Move & Groove, Table Tennis Play & Lessons, Country Line Dancing and other dance classes, Northfield Pedalers' bike rides and Enhance Fitness. The Fitness Center is open 84 hrs/week with treadmills, a NuStep, ellipticals, rowing machines and cycles of all sorts.

Lap swimming is available approximately 60 hours a week for your pleasure.
It's may be cold outside, but it's warm at NSC so why not try one of the abundant class offerings, group times or come workout during our open use hours!

"Everybody Loves Opal" at Old Log Theater

Wednesday, January 25 10:30 am – 4:45 pm

Set in 1962, this upbeat family comedy is about the kind-hearted, loveable optimist, Opal Kronkie, who lives in a tumble-down mansion at the edge of the municipal dump. Opal collects things – anything that can be toted home in her little red wagon. Into her strange world come some con artists who decide that Opal needs is plenty of insurance, a rapid demise, and three beneficiaries (themselves). Several elaborate schemes to "do in" Opal are concocted by these crooks only to be thwarted by her oddball antics. Lunch is included. Indicate your choice of entrée: Smoked Windsor Pork Chop, Lemon Artichoke Chicken Breast, Fresh Water Canadian Walleye Pike, Beef Stroganoff or Vegetarian Lasagna. This is an outing with the Community Resource Bank.

Cost: $47 Code: 1740
